I strongly object to the proposal to combine Drakes Broughton with Norton and Whittington. Drakes Broughton is distant from Norton and Whittington. It would be a completely artificial combination just to make the population numbers look better. However Drakes Broughton is almost adjacent to Peopleton just as it is to Wadborough so that grouping makes complete sense. There is much interaction between people located in these 3 villages. And finally...I read a comment somewhere that Drakes Broughton is 'more urban than village'. Ridiculous! Either the commenter has never been to Drakes Broughton or has a separate agenda for making such a comment.
