Comment text:

The villages of Great Comberton, little Comberton, Bricklehampton and Elmley Castle are closely socially linked ( playgrpoups, schooling, social clubs etc) and in particular form a single united Church of England Parish. There is continual interplay of residents supporting fundraising activities and social activities between the villages. These links do not exist with Fladbury or Eckington, To separate these villages for the sake of equity of local Councillor numbers would serve nothing other than administrative parity.this seems to be a negative and devisive action that could be potentially damaging to the relationships between the communities involved.
