I'm a resident of Leybourne and a former resident of West Malling. I feel Kings Hill should remain an independent ward and not be paired with anywhere else as it's such a distinct community and would likely overpower any other village it's joined with. Similarly, both Larkfield and Snodland should also remain independent. I believe it makes sense for East and West Malling to be joined as they share a rich history. I feel Leybourne should be joined with Birling and Ryarsh due to their similarities and common links. Tonbridge as the largest town in the borough should remain independent, perhaps divided into four wards. Further division of Tonbridge may over complicate.
