Why, what's the purpose of drawing up new boundaries? Does't seem like good use of time, effort and money to do when there are so many other more urgent subject matters to deal with. At this time, when there are so much to get on with, this seems like a distraction and misdirection of energies. Lets stop 'dividing' and start collaborating to achieve goals that help us work together for the common good where we care for each other. p.s. how is the form GDPR compliant where its forcing me to agree/opt in to you '...agree to us contacting you about the outcome..'"!
