Hi

I'm extremely disappointed that I have only just heard of the proposals via word of mouth rather than being properly consulted as an affected resident of Patcham. At the very least, you should have contacted all residents to make us aware of the proposals and give us a fair opportunity to comment.

In my view this is a terrible idea. Patcham is a historic and beautiful village with a unique back story and identity which would be a tragedy to lose. I'm concerned that we would lose our direct council representative who has proved invaluable on many occasions over the years.

I'm also concerned of the impact the new border will have on my property value and also school admissions which I fear will both be negatively impacted. I urge you to reconsider this proposal and to give residents a fair chance to respond as I'm sure many others living in this area are completely oblivious - it all feels very underhand.

Best regards
