I object to the splitting of Patcham and the Mackie Estate becoming part of Hollingbury. The Mackie estate is a large community that is a big part of Patcham, full of families that attend the Patcham schools. We are just along the road to Patcham Old village. The proposed boundary makes no sense to add us into Hollingbury to which we have no link to through the community or local issues. We need to be able to have a say in any Patcham issues, being able to object to any planning on the green spaces on our doorstep, not 2/3 miles away in Hollingbury. The Mackie estate is closer to westdene and is more closely linked with them then with Hollingbury.
