I don't think parts of Southam should be put with the villages of either Stockton or Lobg Itchington. Towns have very different needs to villages. Having lived in both over the last few years I know this from my own experiences. Also there are issues that will affect Southam as a whole better to have a number of wards within Southam with an overall layer where they can meet and discuss town issues without having village issues on the agenda too. I also think there's a possibility that village issues could be overlooked if they are included with part of the town
