It doesn't make sense to include small sections of Southam with Long Itchington or Stockton. The areas have very different needs and priorities. Neither does it make sense to divide small sections of Southam from the rest of the community, e.g. dividing a very small section in the north of the town to group it with Long Itchington makes no sense at all. It makes more sense to keep the existing Long Itchington and Stockton ward separate from Southam and divide Southam in to 3 areas so that the councillors can be focussed on the needs of the communities they represent instead of juggling different needs and priorities of different areas.
