Just to register my surprise at the notion within this review that Little and Great Comberton are not related and should be used as counter weights for the size of other Wards.

Clearly a serious oversight on the part of the reviewers and needs to be dropped as a proposal and corrected.

The villages are closely linked in many respects.

Out of scope I appreciate but splitting Wychavon up into Worcester, Bromsgrove and Cotswold would be worth a discussion though. Many folk feel that Wychavon is not an economically coherent unit requiring an authority at District level; Droitwich related to Bromsgrove; Fernhill Heath to Worcester and the Cotswold AONB villages to the Cotswolds...

Regards
