Comment text:

Chelsham and Farleigh has been a part of an established 3-member ward with Warlingham East since the last Boundary Commission Electoral Review . The Parish Council has reviewed and discussed the merits and pitfalls of remaining part of this existing district ward or of proposing and supporting a new alliance with other neighbouring wards. While cognisant of the Commission's guidelines that 'new wards should - as far as possible - reflect community interest and identities' and recognising that Chelsham and Farleigh is a largely rural parish, in contrast with Warlingham East's more urban character, members felt that many residents, particularly those living in Farleigh, had a closer affinity with Warlingham and its village centre, than other more rural neighbouring parishes. On balance, the Parish Council members felt that, along with this and the elector numbers meeting the Boundary Commission's recommended figure, the Parish Council would support maintaining the status quo and remaining part of a 3-member ward with Warlingham East.
