Southborough and Bidborough have very different demographics and I don't believe should be linked. Bidborough has large houses with very wealthy occupants and is a more rural area. Where Southborough is an urban area with high density housing. Southborough does have some wealthy areas but there are also a large number of council properties with more working class families. Whereas Southborough and High Brooms are linked as an area with common concerns, similar demographics and should remain linked. I recommend that Bidborough would be linked with Speldhurst. Rusthall to be kept as a separate ward or linked with Tunbridge Wells west.. Putting Southborough with Bidborough would I believe disadvantage the voters in Southborough and they would feel their concerns locally would have nothing in common with the voters in Bidborough.
