Why? Why does this need to be done.. And what benefits will it have for members of the public/residents? I'm sure it will have benefits for politicians but I'm not privy to those. Quite apart from wasting taxpayers money, of which there is all too little as government continues to reduce subsidies, I can see no benefit whatsoever. Our Borough Council wasted a huge amount of money looking to create a 'Grand Design' for themselves and so the current Borough Council is now having to find ways to cover the shortfall. Our Town Council pushed through their own 'Grand Design', known as The Hub/Civic Centre against the wishes of many, many Southborough residents. And whilst some aspects seem good, a great space for skateboarding, why did it need to spell out SOUTHBOROUGH along the top and why has the choice of materials been so awful? So I only conclude that councillors have an in built desire to waste tax payers money and that moving boundaries is just another example. Just leave things as they are!
