I feel the most important thing for the village of Churchdown is that it is not split between two or more Councillors. It is quite a self-contained area, and splitting it between multiple County Councillors would mean that the Councillor could not attend to the village as is currently the case. It would also cause issues in terms of one road in the village sitting with on CC and the next door road with another.

If Churchdown is slightly too small on the 2029 figures (as I believe it to be) then taking some or all of the part of Hucclecote that sits in the "Churchdown Brookfield and Hucclecote" ward at District level seems sensible, as there is already that cross over. OR I guess you could take patch of Innsworth, but that may be difficult as Innsworth is, in itself, quite a well-defined area
