I disagree with the proposed changes because the village of New Hartley is over 300 years old. The name it's self is taken from old English and means were wild deer live, to split it in half would serve no good purpose but would double the servicing costs of the local council . Proposed additions to and from the village by and with other wards will add to the administrative costs. Overall the village is best left alone so that it can continue to enjoy its rich history.
