I fail to see any sense in dividing a small rural community like New Hartley. The proposal to link half the village with Newsham is preposterous. New Hartley has no links with Newsham whatsoever.

As part of the Community Council of Seaton Valley it would make more sense to resign some of that area to balance the numbers.

If New Hartley becomes divided it adds extra layers of administration as the village will be in two parishes have two County Councillors and 2 MPs.

The main part of the reasoning to to create communities not to divide them.

Therefore I ask those in a position to do so to think again and balance the numbers by aligning New Hartley with some parts of SestonDekaval, it's closest neighbour.
