Related subject: Clee division

I object to the proposal to move the parish of Nash from the Clee division into the Cleobury Mortimer division for local council representation.

Nash has no links to Cleobury Mortimer. I doubt the representatives in Cleobury Mortimer even know where Nash is located. They don't even share the same postcode area.

Nash, Clee Hill and Burford have strong geographic, cultural, recreational and economic links and should, therefore, share the same representation at local government level to maintain community identity and effective local government.
