I Disagree with the increase As I feel the elected councillors numbers are to high and would welcome a reduction in the number serving our communities. Those that currently serve us are inaffective and payed for doing as little as possible. They have little interest in keeping the communities fully informed and work along party political lines and not for the people they should be representing. I recommend that one councillor from a geographical area should be allocated a council seat. The money saved in not paying the additional members could be used to better use in our communities. Thus not lining councillors pockets.
I would also say that coumcillors should have a business background or knowledge of it.
