Related subject: Baildon / bradford boundaries

I believe Baildon should remain part of the Bradford district. Each aspect of life results in 90% of people in Baildon / Shipley shopping, working or communicating through Bradford. There is no clear boundary where one area starts and the other ends. It is not appropriate or practical to split council boundaries where communities are so reliant and intertwined with each other. I am concerned there is no geographic or economic boundary, only political.

A more sensible boundary proposal would be stationed far north of Shipley / Saltaire and Baildon. The boundary proposal is politically motivated and I don't believe the residents of these communities should be dragged out of the council area for political reasons.
