As a silsden resident and member of friends of silsden park volunteer, I would rather not be under bradford council at all. I think silsden and steeton should be in North Yorkshire.

Bradford council have collected our rates but given us very little for our money and even less consideration.

Our park has two very broken down dangerous buildings which have been reported , childrens play area with broken equipment. We have no public toilets at all, our streets don't get cleaned most of our drains are blocked. The park is looked after by volunteers, the library is run by volunteers, the beck is maintained by volunteers. Bradford council are allowing as many houses to be built even though many new houses haven't been sold. Our school is full, we can't get a nhs appointment at the dentist, the doctors surgery is poor. Our village roads don't get maintained. the village school traffic blocks the main road causing bad congestion and delays. The - road bottle necks on our main road through but Bradford council still gives permission for more housing. Each year we get less services from them , all seems to go to the inner cities. When we ask for things to be done Bradford just won't fund us.

I think silsden residents would be more fairly treated under North Yorkshire , we are only two miles from their border.
