I don't honestly understand the thinking of changing the boundaries of Consett. How can we maintain our town centre if Durham County Council scatter the villages that make up this town. How can we have a true representation in County Durham if the things we're trying to protect, like parking, litter problems, the dreaded incinerator that was proposed, the one and only bank we have left here and protecting our theatre and the heart of our community. How can we work as a town if we have differing boundaries that the powers that be don't even understand. It's time you got in touch with reality and concentrated on what's really important, like affordable housing, helping people who are struggling and not wasting time and money on ludicrous ideas to stop communities having any sway in Durham County Council. These boundaries are also going to see Churches struggle too. Many church numbers rely on members within their boundary. This could leave Churches in Consett with too few members in that boundary to survive. For goodness sake find that heart within that seems to be lost and make the right decision. Leave Consett as it is.
