I believe Shincliffe parish would be better represented by being added to the current Elvet and Gilesgate Division, as proposed by Durham County Council. Historically, before Durham City Council was abolished, Shincliffe was part of the City. The needs and priorities of the inhabitants of Shincliffe are much more closely aligned to those of the city than to Bowburn, Coxhoe and other similar ex-mining villages. I do not believe the views of the people of Shincliffe would be fairly represented if placed in the same division as these villages.
