Consett is a town quite separate in character from surrounding communities such as Leadgate. I strongly disagree with the proposal to make a large new division attaching Consett to Leadgate and a number of villages such as Medomsley. Consett has an urban centre and its councillors need to address issues relating to the bus station, theatre, library, restaurants etc whereas the issues in the smaller communities tend to be concerned with public transport links, distance to shops, surgeries, sports facilities etc. Please recognise the distinctive nature of Consett and the distinctive character of the rural and semi-rural villages by keeping separate divisions.
