Related subject: South Derbyshire - Hartshorne and Woodville Parishes

As a resident of the Lower Midway part of Hartshorne Parish (MWE polling district) I would prefer to see the whole of Hartshorne Parish retained within the same County Division, and not divided as proposed in the submission by the County Council. While the Parish is currently warded as a result of the District Council ward boundaries I would not wish to see this become the norm, and it may be possible to reverse this at a future review of District Boundaries.

I note that the County Councils proposal suggests splitting the WVC polling district in Woodville into three parts with the north-western part in the Broomy Farm estate (wrongly identified as part of MVC on page 74 of the County Council's submission) being proposed to form part of the Swadlincote East Division along with the part of WVC to the south of the A511. This would imply two unconnected parts of Woodville Parish being included in the proposed Swadlincote East division.

The Woodville Parish part of the Broomy Farm estate is on the central part of the estate spine road which links to the WVB and MWE polling districts and would be better all in the same new county division.
