Hello,

I am writing about Coal Aston polling wards FA and FC.

The existing division Eckington and Killamarsh, has the polling ward Coal Aston FA and FC in it.

There is very little local connection or local interest between Eckington/Killamarsh and Coal Aston, indeed the places are miles apart.

Coal Aston was with Dronfield prior to previous boundary changes.

Coal Aston has strong links and merges into Dronfield as regards housing estates, so there is no reason for it to be linked to a division miles away with no local community links.

Unstone has the polling wards YC and YB which are closer to Eckington/Killamarsh than the Coal Aston polling wards, but YC and YB are linked to Dronfield.

I believe Coal Aston Polling Districts FA and FC would be better represented by a the Dronfield division district.

Regards,
