Related subject: Boundary changes for Oxshott

I have two fundamental concerns with the proposed boundary changes:

1. The community of Oxshott is split into two by placing the boundary along the A244. The A244 does not form a boundary between two different communities and it is therefore illogical to force that upon the residents.
2. The name Oxshott has been removed from the names of the new divisions - there is no justification for doing this.

The implication for both these changes is that the residents of Oxshott and Oxshott in general are not important. Whilst a small community it is totally inappropriate to dissect communities in the way that this is done - purely for numerical purposes.
