Related subject: (Currently) Minchinhampton, proposed Painswick and Bisley

The current situation is preferable, as Brimscombe people feel part of Minchinhampton, and have done for many years. For us to be allocated to Painswick and Bisley would be very odd, and seems to focus on numbers over practicalities and identity. Also, Trinity is part of Stroud town, so that change would seem VERY odd. The current boundaries at county, district and town level are very good for e.g. councillors covering logistically sensible areas, attending meetings, etc.
