Related subject: Horns Road to be part of Bisley/Painswick

The current Trinity Ward (of which I am part, in Horns Road) includes Stroud cemetery, Trinity church, Trinity Rooms and Stroud Valleys School (and possibly the hospital?) All vital services within a town centre, urban environment and used extensively by the people who live here. The separation of this area would impact me and others hugely, and become unnecessarily beurocratic to manage with different councillors from town and district council involved with the area. Much as I enjoy visiting Painswick and Bisley I have no affiliation or emotional connection with these areas, and I suspect that the needs of Trinity Ward are radically different to the needs of these more rural and rich areas. I fear an inevitable non levelling up outcome of the proposed boundary changes and would feel marginalised.
