Trimdon Ward Community Council held a meeting on 11 January at which ideas for the boundary review were discussed.

The meeting agreed that a new ward should be created by extending the current ward boundaries to re-unite 'old Brookfield' (labelled KC on your map) with what is now called Trimdon ward.

There are very strong community links between the Baldoon Sands and Earlsdon Avenue part of Trimdon ward and 'old Brookfield' around The Oval.

Such a move could also strengthen community cohesion between the new housing being developed off Jack Simon Way, which is now part of Trimdon Ward, with the rest of the ward which has no road links and feels cut off from the rest of Trimdon Ward.

Both the area listed JB on your map and the new houses off Jack Simon Way share the shopping facilities on The Oval and two churches.

So, our proposal is that the KC part of in the current Kader ward is reunited with what is called currently 'Trimdon ward'. It could be renamed using the name Brookfield or some other name as Trimdon Ward doesn't really work as the ward only covers half of Trimdon Avenue.

Using your projected population forecast, it would mean putting together the current Trimdon Ward (an electorate of 5104 by 2029) and the KC part of Kader ward (projected to remain at 913 electorate) to create an electorate of 6017.

What the meeting is arguing for is proper recognition of real community boundaries and helping community cohesion by bringing the new houses off Jack Simon Way, The Oval area and the Trimdon Avenue area from the medical centre and Blue Bell Beck up the hill to Baldoon Sands together.
