Related subject: Wroughton and Wichelstowe

I would suggest a district that encompasses East, Middle and West Wichel makes much more sense than separating the three by grouping Middle (and West?) Wichel with Wroughton, and East Wichel with Old Town. The combined population when Wichelstowe is complete will be about 4,500 and will have its own needs and character, distinct from either Wroughton or Old Town, so it makes sense to have the three 'Wichels' together.
