I disagree with the intended boundary change in the Clent Hills.

I found out about the proposal on Friday there are probably people who will be affected who would of liked to have had a say who still don't know.
I am surprised that we weren't mailed.

I was born in the parish of Belbroughton and for several generations my family have lived in the Hagley, Clent and Belbroughton area, I am by no means unique, there are other families who have multigenerational ties to Belbroughton. It is depressing that the boundary change would push me and others out of the village and into another area. The family ties, friendships that exist in the area should in my view take priority over trying to balance shifting numbers at the expense of an integrated community. The communities of Catshill and Belbroughton are dissimilar , one is more rural and the other suburban they both have different needs and characteristics. Policing in the hills is one example another is schools. I walk to my doctor in Belbroughton but will I be able to do the same in Woodvale? Those of us who use the Glebe surgery get a good service,short appointment waiting times and home visits, this is another reason why I don't wish to move into Woodvale. My life in the area revolves around Belbroughton and Clent it's where I grew up and my friends live and socialise. There is a real community feeling and I fear that this could be effected in a negative way by the proposal coming into effect. Another reason to reject a change.
