Your review suggests the A491 is a strong identifiable boundary. It is not. To the residents Bell End and Bell Heath are an integral part of Clint and Belbroughton. You say that you are interested in hearing local opinion. I can assure you that I have lived locally for 33 years and regard myself as being part of the Belbroughton and Clint community. We have lived here, sent our children to Belbroughton school, attended school, community and church events. We eat and shop locally, frequent Belbroughton pubs / restaurants and identify strongly as belonging to Belbroughton. We challenged the review of 2013/14 and our views are unchanged. We reject the boundary comment; it is easy to cross the road and only a short walk or drive into our village. I ask you to listen the the people and leave us alone. We have also only become aware of the review and feel that we have been excluded from the process. But our views count and should be respected
