I think the Green belt needs protecting at all costs, once we lose these green areas they are gone forever, we need to think about what we are leaving our children, do we want to turn every green space in to concrete housing, if housing needs to be built then surely there is enough space inside the inner cities, there is a greater need for policing, health education, transport but these will not be met by a developer who is only interested in profit, only interested in turning fields in to housing estates for a salary bonus and a shares option, I know this council is in financial dire straits but we all need to think long and hard over what we leave behind our legacy to future generations , does this failed council want to be remembered for huge financial losses AND huge green belt losses ? The green areas need protection, we don't have enough schools, police, medical, dentists and doctors to support this huge 3000 plus housing development. These are my views, NO to building on Green Belt land.
