If the numbers allow, it would seem to make more sense in the interests of better community representation for the A299 to be used as the Southern boundary for Gorrell ward. This would mean those on Bogshole Lane would be in the same ward as Pye Alley Lane and that those living in the Clapham Hill area would share representation with those living in Wraik Hill and their common interests would be represented. Those representing Gorrell ward are likely to concentrate their time on those in the centre of Whitstable, and thus these areas might be overlooked. With the whole community south of the A299 in one ward this would improve the attention that their councillors would give them.
