Firstly I do not believe that Cheshire East need 82 Councillors. This is too many, my postcode actually falls within the current Wybunbury parish although we are at the heart of Hough which is much closer to Shavington geographically and so all of Hough should be part of the Shavington Ward.

Secondly, my road is now part of the new Chester South and Eddlesbury, parliamentary seat which seems to be far more involved with Chester which is not part of Cheshire East so if you have a need to draw a new parliamentary boundary, could you not just make a new local council for the area too?
