To the Review Officer,

The proposed boundary review makes no sense. This seems a bizarre and politically motivated change that would create needless division in our community. The question is who benefits from such a change? My guess is that it is not the people of Eldwick or its neighbouring villages. Baildon is a very separate and different community at the other side of the moor. If there is no value, except perhaps to those who would like to engineer some form of election-rigging this seems a needless change. Thank you for your attention to this matter.
