I disagree with Eldwick being anything other than remaining whole within the Bingley Ward. Eldwick is a strong community in its own right and should not be split in any way. Eldwick is it's own village which works together as a community really well and has done for a long time. As Eldwick has grown we have strengthened in our identity and care of our Eldwick family. We have no connection to Baildon, no public transport and no reason to change. Eldwick is great as one community.
