Related subject: Freshney ward

This appears to be a totally political stance by the Conservatives, The Independent Councillors have become a thorn in their side as they support the Community needs and not the party stance. This break up of Freshney ward is totally illogical it splits what is currently a good community into 3 for no real reason at all. If NELC are proposing to keep the same number of councillors why do we actually need to lose a ward ?, surely this will result in even more costs in travelling etc by the deposed councillors.

Yet again not a well thought out proposal by our council leaders but something we've come to expect
