Unbelievable that this area is being deconstructed yet again. The general public have lost interest.... Councillors are now remote beings . People in Barrow and Furness have been cut off from any meaningful involvement in decisions in their area thanks to most meetings being held in Kendal ( a 3 hour round trip) .

The website map is almost indecipherable, who thought of this idea? No one local I am sure.

It is almost irrelevant how many councillors are in our area as they are ineffective ( many do not attend meetings) and they have no voice or experience.
