If the Cumberland council is financially broke, how can you justify wasting money, time and resources on such an exercise?

How much extra is the increase in the extra councillors going to cost the public?

Why are you wasting time and money on such an exercise when Cumberland council does not work properly after how many years?

In these financially difficult times, this exercise is wasting time, resources and money. You should be reducing the number of councillors, reducing expenses, by video conferencing. There should be no need for adding to the carbon emissions by councillors driving in there own cars to meeting all over Cumberland council.

The bright button, who decided breaking Cumberland CC up was a good idea, has obviously no idea about Cumbria and it's diverse and varied lands, its poor infrastructure. You would be better getting the southern 595 upgraded back to an A road.
