I am writing to comment on the proposal to include Moulsoe within the same Ward as Broughton and part of Milton Keynes. This is patently not a good idea, since Moulsoe is very much a farming community and has little in common with the new houses and industrial areas further west. It might be convenient but I fear that the village would be overwhelmed by the requirements of thousands of more urban dwellers. There are other places with which Moulsoe has a better fit, namely Newport Pagnell and Olney, for example. In the interests of preserving a long-standing rural community and its needs, I would suggest that Moulsoe NOT be lumped in with the new development, with which it has hardly any connection. In Moulsoe, we do not want to become an outlier or even a thorn in the side of an area which welcomes a lot of development. It would be a mistake to try and shoehorn us in to an area so completely different in many ways.
