Cradley Heath should be a ward by itself. I have seen that there are several parts of the town that are not currently in the Cradley Heath ward which doesn't make any sense if there is enough people living in the town so it can be a ward by itself.

Yes Old Hill does share a boundary with Cradley Heath, but that town is also split it seems so why not have both towns all in their own ward and then put Old Hill with somewhere else if it is then too big if it's put with Cradley Heath.

There's some parts of Cradley Heath in Blackheath but they are right next to other parts of Cradley Heath which makes no sense. Like the Sherbourne Road and Station Road that are right next to High Haden Crescent but they're in a different ward. This is strange because they are so close together and clearly are all part of Cradley Heath because Blackheath doesn't start until you get to the top of Gorsty Hill.
