Related subject: Acomb East & Holgate / Leeman Rd area

I currently live and own a property on Kingsway west. Prior to that I lived on falconer Street and then for 5 years in the leeman road area.

The Leeman road area should be a separate ward- my needs living there, the services I had access to or didn't and the impact of the york central development were all unique to the area. It was just very different to either Holgate or Acomb where I've lived since.

I am relieved that Kingsway west will be formally part of Acomb as everyone calls it Acomb. No one round here has any affinity to the current ward of Westfield and most of the facilities, services etc we use are on Acomb Front street - which we refer to as our local high street. In terms of services we use or the needs of the residents, it isn't wildly different to that when I lived down the road in Holgate, so the merge makes sense to me.

So as a current and former resident of these areas, I am in full support of the proposal
