I want to object to Upper Poppleton being moved into the Acomb area of York:

- 1) There is no clear reason or explanation, that I have found for this change.
- 2) The area I live in has longstanding ties to Poppleton and as a resident I, and many others, identify with the rural nature of Poppleton opposed to the more urbanised Acomb. The rural parish is more representative for me.
- 3) When I purchased my property 2 years ago, I bought it as it is in Poppleton - not Acomb.
- 4) The logic of moving our electoral ward to balance electoral numbers is flawed as this would mean Rural West York would have 10% below average voters if the change was to go ahead.
- 5) I believe there are direct negative implications to personal finances, schooling and services if we were to change ward. We would be moving from a low crime area to a higher urban crime area and the catchment areas for the local primary schools would change. When purchasing my property these were things I considered it is wrong for this to change when people have invested significant money in property in the area.
