The change to the boundary makes no sense to the local residents of Poppleton, aside from a likely reduction in property values, and poorer schooling options the change will also likely increase residents monthly outgoings for insurance. With people getting poorer by the day due to rampant inflation why would residents want to be re-zoned from a rural ward which affords them even a minor saving? The people in this area bought a house in Poppleton not Acomb. Facilities in Acomb are further afield than the village and already over subscribed.
