I think Kexby, Dunnington, Holtby and Murton should be a 1-member Ward. Dunnington is regarded as a small town in the Britain in Bloom competition (I am a member of the 'In Bloom' Committee) as it has over 3000 residents. I think we must be at least as big as Copmanthorpe, which is going to be a 1-member Ward, and to be a 2-member Ward with Naburn, Deighton, Wheldrake and Elvington would make far too large a geographical area for anyone to represent.

There are no transport links with these other villages and one cannot be on familiar terms with so many people. Dunnington, and its near neighbours, Holtby, Kexby and Murton are closely related in so many ways eg Public Rights of Way, I recently did a footpath leaflet which needs updating since 2 new PROWs have been recognised recently. We are also concerned about the sell-off of Freehold Properties in Scoreby and Kexby by the Church Commissioners, which has come completely 'out of the blue' with no consultation whatsoever. I hope whoever is reading this is responsive to the comments. Thank you.
