I really like the proposals, they really seem like the different areas of York with only a few odds bits.

Westfield, Woodthorpe and Westhorpe, looks sensible, but the name doesn't work well. Why not Woodthorpe and Acomb South? Most of the ward that isn't Woodthorpe was the south of the old Acomb parish. The estate not in either was build at the same time as most of the housing in the south of Acomb, so is a similar vibe area. It then means the wider Acomb area is reflected the three wards covering the Acomb.

I really like Tanghall and Derwenthorpe as a ward, it has really good boundaries that reflect the area. I also like all of Heworth being in Heworth ward, not in Heworth Without, as well as Meadlands being in Heworth Without not Osbaldwick. I do think all of Derwenthorpe should be in the Tanghall and Derwenthorpe ward, as it seems really odd to split it up.

I really think the combination of Fishergate and Fulford, as it is all Fulford in how people think of the area.

Dunnington and Wheldrake would surely be better as to separate wards?
