The boundaries are seperating communities of interest.

Boundaries are supposed to rely on guidance from school encatchment zones, this clearly has not been followed in the westfield ward.

the current westfield ward makes perfect sense, however this new proposal does not have chapelfields in the same ward as westfield primary community school...

this is very bizarre as chapelfields is perhaps the largest provider to this school, and is the main area of the encatchment zone.

i suggest strongly considering the boundaries to keep this in mind, as this is clearly not being adhered to.

communities of significant difference are being grouped too, with chapelfields in the same ward as upper beckfield lane, which is very bizarre and vertical.

the boundaries should be seriously reconsidering with this in mind.
