

For some districts and boroughs across Surrey, data is presented in terms of the wards and polling districts that existed at the time the electoral forecasts were produced (late 2022). This does not affect the overall forecast electorate numbers, or the distribution of electors between communities. The Polling District map presented also includes these legacy polling districts, in order for consultees to accurately determine which forecasts refer to which area.

For Tandridge, the electoral review of the district council is ongoing, and will be completed later in 2023. At the final stage of the county review we will have regard to our statutory duty to reflect the district warding pattern, where possible, in our final recommendations for Division boundaries.
