I think that Wokingham Without should be part of Bracknell so that 'Crowthorne' is not disjointed. We already are in the same ward for voting for an MP which just shows how disjointed Crowthorne is. There is hardly any public transport through Wokingham Without which goes to Wokingham. The bus that is accessible to us (my husband is disabled with limited walking capacity, as for so many people around us. The only public transport near us is to Bracknell and Camberley. Coming under Bracknell council it is an excellent, all day service and means that we have a connection to the railway at Bracknell, which the bus provision from Wokingham, if it were close enough to be able to use, is very limited indeed.
