I totally disagree with Church Langley wards being split in two. Church Langley is ONE estate with ONE entrance in and out of it. How can you think that splitting it in two makes any sense. Our local councillor Nicky Purse has worked very hard to ensure that the money left by the developers of this ONE estate is returned back to using for the improvements it was originally intended to do. These improvements have only just started to be implemented- how do you expect this money will now be managed across two wards incorporating a much larger area? This is ONE cohesive community and shame on Harlow council for trying to split it up
